

Help your peers at U of T create a more sustainable future!

ABOUT US

The Student Leadership Subcommittee \(SLS\) was created to provide students with a stronger voice on the President's Advisory Committee on the Environment, Climate Change, and Sustainability (CECCS), enhance student collaboration and drive student-led initiatives aligned with the broader CECCS mandate.

Comprised of 12 students (7 CECCS members & 5 subcommittee-only members), members span across the university's three campuses, representing diverse educational backgrounds but united by a shared passion for advancing student participation in sustainability initiatives.

CECCS was formed in 2017 with a mandate to advance coordination of the university's contributions and objectives on climate change and sustainability.

SLS Goals

- Provide a platform where student voices and opinions are represented
- Champion the development and advancement of sustainability priorities and student-led initiatives
- Bridge the gap between students and administration on sustainability topics

CECCS Programming

- Sustainability Pathways Program
 - Sustainability Citizen
 - Sustainability Scholar
 - Sustainability Leader
- Sustainability Catalyst Internship
- Campus as a Living Lab

Regenerative Sustainability

U of T embraces and promotes the concept of regenerative sustainability, which looks for net positive ways to increase both human & environmental wellbeing, instead of simply focusing on reducing environmental damage. We also orient our understanding of sustainability through the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.
